THE UNITED STATES ARMY AND NAVY

is conferred by the President, in the name of Congress for having, "in actual conflict with the enemy, distinguished himself, conspicuously, by gallantry and intrepidity, at the risk of his life, above and beyond the call of duty,"

The U. S. Congress requires a far higher degree of valor before granting its Medal of Honor than is required by any other nation for its similar decoration.

It is the hardest to gain - the fewest in numbers - the least known - yet the most eagerly coveted and highly prized of all the decorations of Honor in the world.

Reunions of the 88th Indiana.

On October 10, 1882, a reunion of the regiment was held at Auburn, Indiana. Col. George Humphrey, presided. There were present Col. Cyrus E. Briant, Gen. Lewis J. Blair, Capt. Allan H. Dougall, Adjutant, and 132 survivors. There was also present Col. Douglas Hapeman, of the 104th Illinois; Gen. Benjamin Harrison, of the 70th Indiana; Col. I. N. Walker, of the 73rd Indiana; Col. Charles A. Zollinger, of the 129th Indiana; Gen. James R. Carnahan, formerly Capt. 86th Indiana; and many other visiting comrades.

So pleasant a time was had, that it was concluded that a reunion of the survivors of the regiment should be held each year; on or about October 8th; at such place as may be selected by vote of the regiment.

At the second reunion, which was held in Fort Wayne, Indiana, October 9, 1883, it was resolved that whenever the survivors of the regiment meet in reunion or otherwise, that the ranking officer present shall preside, unless he shall detail some other person for that purpose. Further that the adjutant of the regiment shall act as secretary; in his absence, some one shall be detailed acting adjutant; and that the ranking officer of each company present shall take charge of such company, during the reunion and shall preside at all meetings of the company.

It was afterwards resolved that each survivor of the regiment shall contribute fifty cents annually to defray the expenses of these reunions.

On August 7, 1886, the regiment assembled at Fort Wayne, Indiana, to attend the funeral of Col. George Humphrey, who died at his home in that city, August 4, 1886. Col. Cyrus E. Briant was absent in California, and Gen. Lewis J. Blair appointed Adjutant Hartman B. DuBarry to command, with Capt. Allan H. Dougall, Adjutant. Gen. Blair and Dr. Teal acted as pall bearers. Eighty survivors of the regiment were present.

The regiment was escorted to Lindenwood Cemetery by the State Militia and G. A. R. Posts of the city. The funeral was a large one and was a fitting testimonial of respect to the first colonel of the regiment.

At the reunion held at Fort Wayne, October 10, 1894, the regiment was invited to unveil a monument which was erected at the eastern entrance to the North City Park, to the soldiers of Allen county who fell in defense of the Union. After dinner the regiment was formed with Col. Cyrus E. Briant commanding, Capt. Allan H. Dougall, Adjutant, and Capt. Fred F. Boltz, officer of the day. They were accompanied by the city posts of the G. A. R., the Sons of Veterans and W. R. C., preceded by the band of the Home for Feeble Minded Youth, and were escorted by the State Militia under command of Major J. E. Miller, Lieut. J. E. Gaskins, Adjutant. Carriages containing the honored guests were followed by a vast concourse of people.

The exercises were opened with prayer by the Rev. D. B. Keller, late Quartermaster Sergeant of the regiment. Mr. Anthony Kelker, of the Committee on City Parks, presented the monument to the city, which was accepted by the Mayor of the city, C. B. Oakley, formerly Captain of Co. "E." in a few fitting remarks.

Hon. R. C. Bell, for the donors, then presented it to the soldiers, which was responded to by Col. C. E. Briant, who accepted it in behalf of the soldiers of Allen county. At the signal, one gun from the Zollinger Battery, Miss Winifred J. Dougall and Miss Ida Kiekley, daughters of survivors of the regiment, drew aside the veil, amidst shouts and cheers and music by the bands. Capt. Christ. Hettler, of the 142nd Indiana, accepted the gift for the German Veterans of Allen county. Col. I. N. Walker, of the 73rd Indiana, a former resident of this county, then delivered an appropriate address, historical, patriotic and eulogistic.

A cut of the bronze figure on the monument is to be found on another page. On the stone beneath is cut a G. A. R. badge, the seals of the United States, the state of Indiana and the city of Fort Wayne; and on the faces of the stone are inscribed

"A Tribute from Patriotic Citizens to the Heroic
"Sons of Allen County, who fell in defense of "the Union, 1861-1865."
"Chickamauga." "Vicksburg." "Gettysburg."

On September 19, 1895, a reunion of the regiment was called for on the battlefield of Chickamauga, at the site of the regimental monument at 9:00 a. m. Accordingly at the time appointed Noah Knepper, of Co. "C", planted the colors on the monument. The regiment assembled. Col. Cyrus E. Briant, commanding, Capt. Allan H. Dougall, Adjutant, and Capt. Joseph R. Webster, officer of the day, forty-one survivors answered to roll call. The colonel called the regiment to order and addressed it briefly in fitting terms, and called upon the adjutant, who, in absence of Lieut. Milton M. Thompson, of Co. "D", and Marcellus M. Justus, of Co. "F", state commissioners of the Chickamauga Battlefield Park, stated, "that the survivors of the regiment had been called to dedicate the monument. The field had been purchased by the national government, and was about to be dedicated as a public park. The base of the monument had been built by the commissioners of the general government, and the monument by the state of Indiana. The site selected had been approved by the war department, as the position occupied by the regiment where it suffered the greatest loss during the battle." He stated, "that it remained for the survivors of the regiment here assembled, to ratify the acts of the commissioners and the site selected, and to accept and dedicate the monument."

Capt. J. R. Webster, of Co. "G", spoke at some length giving his recollections of that great battle and the part taken in it by the regiment. He concluded by saying that he thought the site selected, was about where Major Stough was wounded, and he approved the action of the commissioners.

Lieut. Josiah King, of Co. "F", and Lieut. Royal A. Edgerly, of Co. "A", also approved the site, as did others of those present.

After which Daniel D. Diehl, of Co. "H", delivered the following address:

MY COMRADES—And little wonder I say my comrades, because there is no finer figure in history than the American Volunteer in the Union army of '61 and '64. In his simple suit of army blue he stands out against the background of a peaceful civilization, clear-cut as an athlete ready for the spring; behind him, home, business, profession; behind him, love, hope and ambition; in front of him only the flag. The Volunteer rushed away from home, the school or the workshop, the farm or the office and groping blindly for a while, emerged the finest, most dramatic, most soldierly figure on the stage of war.

Comrades, thirty-two years ago on this line, where this beautiful monument now stands, we faced an enemy of Americans, who wore the gray, "foemen worthy of our steel," here we met as enemies, but now, we meet as friends, and brother Americans. We remember the great leaders, who have passed over the silent river into the unknown: firm and faithful Sherman, daring and prudent Sheridan, the silent, invincible, the unconquered, the greatest soldier of his time, U. S. Grant. The gallant and beloved volunteer soldier John A. Logan, and that careful, firm, steadfast, noble, patriotic soldier, the Rock of Chickamauga, who saved the army of Rosecrans from utter destruction, General George H. Thomas, if we can do nothing more, Comrades, let us drop a tear.

My Comrades, many nations have had armies, but no nation since time began ever mustered into battle line an army so grand, so brave, so pure, and who fought for principles so high and holy as did the union army of '61 and '65. They charged the long line of glittering bayonets and belching cannon that defended treason; they scaled the highest ramparts where the stars and bars floated; and in the face of death they tore the ensigns of secession from every flag-staff; they pre-empted to freedom every foot of American soil, and with their swords, they shattered the chains of human slavery from over four millions of our people.

Comrades, the little bronze button, the badge of the Grand Army of the Republic, which we wear on our breasts, is a gem that is priceless, to us. It has an intrinsic value. Diamonds and jewels are scattered, bought and sold but no one can buy this little bronze button; it had to be earned, and was earned by all who wear it honorably. It was earned by patriotic services in defense of our flag, yes, earned on this same bloody field of Gettysburg, earned while scaling the rugged heights of Look-out Mountain and floating above the clouds, earned while charging the long lines of glittering bayonets on Mission Ridge; earned while repulsing the repeated charges of Pickett's men at Gettysburg; yes, earned while suffering the pangs of starvation in rebel prisons; earned by service that did not spare its wearers from hardship and thousands of our comrades from death. Comrades, crowned heads may have vaults bursting with gold and silver; they may have diamonds and costly jewels, yet, with all that, they can not buy one of these little bronze buttons; they have no measure of value, they are priceless, and Oh, how proud I am to-day that I have a legal right to wear this little priceless gem.

Comrades, we are growing old, our hairs are silvered; we are the emaciated remnants of that grand army that fought for the preservation of this nation, in the dark days of the rebellion; we are fast hastening to an untimely grave, our comradeship was welded together in the heat of battle and is everlasting.

Whatever else we may blot from our history, we can never forget the brave boys who went down on this sacred ground never to rise again. Sacred, yes, thrice sacred, made so by the best blood of Americans. They gave the best they had, to the saving of the freest and the best government under the broad canopy of heaven.

To you, dear comrades, my heart goes out in deep sympathy; to you, survivors of the 88th Indiana and of the death field-days; to you, who bared your breasts to the storms of shot and shell; to you, who left dear ones at home, to die if need be, for the land you loved; to you, I pay this tribute of respect.

May you live many years in the land you helped to save, may your winters be as balmy as the spring, as full of fragrant blossoms as the summer; and when at last your camp fires burn low, when you enter the deepening shadows of death, when your brave hearts beat weak and slow, may the memory of your noble deeds, that kept your country on the map of the world, and the flag of the Nation in the air, fill your souls with peace and joy.

As you look on this monument let it console you to know that you are not forgotten, and that in the centuries yet to come, the stories of your valor and heroic deeds will be told in art and song and story and upon your honored graves, flowers the most fragrant will be lovingly laid by millions of men, women and children yet unborn.

Comrades henceforth let us dwell together in unity, fraternity, charity and loyalty forever. And around this monument let us pledge ourselves anew to stand by each other.

The exercises were just completed, when it was discovered that in our ranks there was an unannounced, yet welcome guest, who, on stepping to the front was recognized as our old brigade commander 88th Indiana Volunteers.

AUGUST 1, 1899.

REUNION ORDER,)
1899. }

I. At the annual reunion of the 88th Indiana Volunteers, held at St. Joe, Indiana, September 27, 1898, it was decided to hold the next reunion at Wolcottville, LaGrange County, Indiana, on the first Thursday of October, 1899, and the following local committee was appointed, with power to change the time, should it become necessary to make such change, to-wit: Adjutant Allan H. Dougall, Dr. Alonzo A. Kester, George W. Sanders, Joseph W. Nowells and John M. Schermerhorn. The committee has canvassed the whole situation and report that the best time to hold the reunion is Wednesday, September 27, 1899.

II. It is therefore ordered that the Annual Reunion of the Regiment will be held at Wolcottville, LaGrange County, Indiana on Wednesday, September 27, 1899. Camp Fire in the evening.

III. The comrades and citizens of Wolcottville extend to the survivors of the regiment, their wives, families and friends a hearty welcome. Let every one therefore, who can, be present promptly at Roll Call, Wednesday morning. Our last reunion at St. Joe, was one of the best, there was 142 members of the regiment present, which was the largest number we ever had at a reunion. Let us try to outdo that one. Wolcottville is at the junction of the Chicago division of the Wabash and the G. R. & I. Railroads. We are assured of reduced rates on the railroads.

IV. Comrades of the Eighty-Eighth, we are growing fewer, older and more feeble, let us endeavor to grow closer together. Let us meet at Wolcottville with our wives, our families and our friends, on September 27th and greet one another once more, while we can.

V. Be sure to notify the Adjutant on receipt of this order, whether you can come or not. Report any changes of addresses or the death of any member of the regiment, which may come to your knowledge. The ANNUAL DUES IS FIFTY CENTS, which should be remitted to the Adjutant or paid at the time of registering.

VI. For further particulars address Comrade George W. Sanders, Wolcottville, Indiana.

Yours Very Respectfully,

CYRUS E. BRIANT,

ALLAN H. DOUGALL,

ADJUTANT,

COLONEL 88th INDIANA,

General John Beatty says of it :

COLUMBES, O., Dec. 8, 1895.

MY DEAR CAPTAIN:—I want to thank you most heartily for the History of the 88th Indiana. It is the briefest and most complete regimental history I have seen, and will be preserved by the descendants of the soldiers of the regiment the next five hundred years. In brief, it will grow in interest and in age, just as all such books do.

Yours respectfully,

JOHN BEATTY.
